

What were the average rental times for each category?

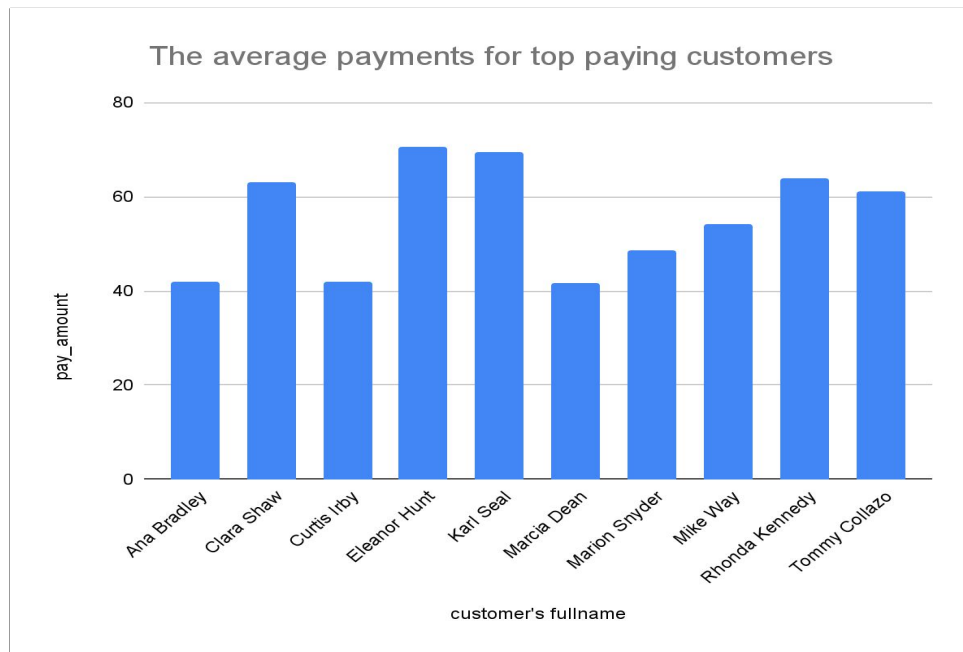

The chart shows that the average rental values across categories are balanced, with Animation and Comedy slightly higher and Classes and Music slightly lower. The minimal differences indicate consistent rental demand across genres.

What was the number of rental orders each store has fulfilled for each month?

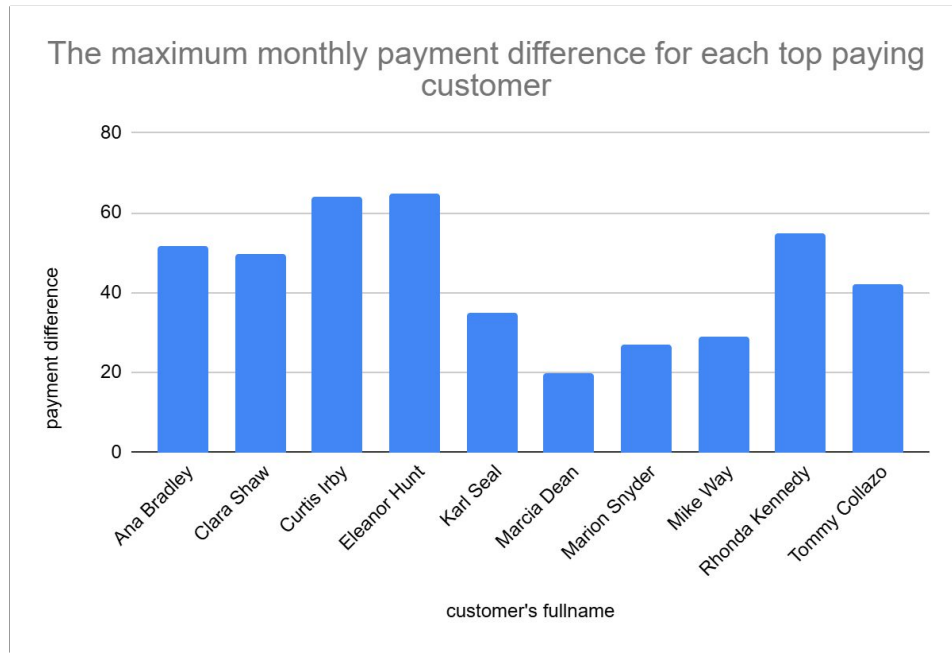

We can see both stores achieved nearly the same sales figures during each time period.

What were the average monthly payment amounts for the top paying customers?

We can see that the top 10 customers have varying average payment amounts each month, and each customer has an average above 40.

What were the maximum monthly payment amounts different for the top paying customers?

The chart displays the monthly payment differences for top 10 paying customers, it shows that Eleanor Hunt has the maximum difference between each top paying customer and Marcia Dean has the minimum difference between them.